The link is to a website, Always, that WCSD has referenced for the information booklets that they provide. The original booklet did not include the gender and arousal information, but has been updated by the publisher. WCSD will either create a permanent link to the older version of the booklet, or drop the link altogether. | |

| | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Parent had tried to view the birth video but was unable to get it to work. WCSD will correct the access so that anyone can see the video. • Parent asked about resources for parents and/or students to get answers to questions Nurse Aubreigh, directed them to the link on WCSD website labeled “FAQs 1” • Nurse Aubreigh commented that teachers dealing with the human sexuality curriculum have State mandated training on how to present the subject matter and that students are always directed to have conversations with their parents or another safe adult. • Counselor Roskelly mentioned that the students being able to submit questions anonymously is a great thing. • Parent asked what a student can do if they do not have anyone at home to talk to about what they’ve learned or any questions that they may have. Nurse Aubreigh said that students are told that they can speak with parents, their doctor, a counselor, the health department, and other safe adults about any questions they may have • Principal brought up that this coming Monday is a Wasatch Wellness Night that is focusing on Healthy Relationships. It’s for parents and students. These are held once a month and cover many different topics. • Parent asked if the website human sexuality information and links are in Spanish. No. They are not. Although some of the resources have website browsers with translation capabilities tied, WCSD stand-alone pages do not. WCSD will get Spanish translations available as soon as possible. | |
